“Team Up for Smart Snacks” Challenge

Wanted – healthy recipes that are smart snack compliant and taste good!

Family and Consumer Science educators, students, and School Nutrition Program staff “teamed up” to enhance the healthy school environment. Child Nutrition & Wellness collaborated with Career, Standards and Assessment Services-Career and Technical Education to reach out to schools to encourage them to serve up “smart snacks” as part of healthy school initiatives. Schools were challenged to build a team consisting of a Family and Consumer Science educator, one or more students, and a School Nutrition Program staff person. Teams were encouraged to use their ingenuity and food innovation skills to develop recipes that taste great, that students will want to eat, and that meet the “Smart Snacks in School Nutrition Standards.”

Over 65 teams from 28 Kansas Nutrition and Culinary classes took on the challenge. The effort tapped into the creativity of approximately 400 total students from large schools, small schools, private schools, high schools and middle schools.

Recipes were evaluated for compliance with the “Smart Snacks in School Nutrition Standards” and judged for taste. The selected recipes are now presented in this “Team Up for Smart Snacks Challenge” Recipe Book and will be part of the production experience in the chef taught “Culinary Champions - Team Up for Smart Snacks” class offered at Child Nutrition Management Academy. We hope you enjoy creating the recipes developed by the school teams as part of the “Challenge” experience!

Granola, vanilla almond (Used Special K Touch of Honey Granola in testing)		2 T			4. Cut the apple into slices. Sort the slices into pairs 5. Spread yogurt onto all of the apple slices. 6. Sprinkle granola onto one side of the slices in each pair 7. Put the side without the granola on top of the side with the granola to make mini apple sandwiches.

Options: *Juice from an orange helps prevent the apple from browning if the product is to be consumed immediately. If the snack is not to be consumed immediately, a fruit preserve might help prevent browning.

This snack also worked well cut into ¼ "slices and served open face portions, sprinkling granola on all slices.
